FIFTEEN CENTS

Seemann or Amundsen?

County sets 2 precinct recount

The discovery check of Antioch precincts four and 12, requested by William Seemann, in connection with his two-vote loss to Don Amundsen in the April 12 trustee election in Antioch, will take place sometime this week.

According to Lake County Election Administrator Pat Pfeiffer, the board of elections had not set a definite time or date for the discovery at press time.

"We are aiming for the week of April 17 and we will notify both candidates and the local canvassing board," Pfeiffer said.

Seemann, a veteran incumbent trustee, said that he would like to look into both the precinct he lost heavily in, Oakwood Knolls (Precinct 12), and the one that he had the biggest win in, Precinct 4.

These constitute 25 percent of Antioch's precincts and will cost Seemann $10 per precinct to recount.

"If the vote remains the same I don't think I'll proceed any further," said Seemann.

Under the law an attempt to gain a recount of the other 75 percent of the precincts would entail filing a legal suit and court action.

Since any interested parties can watch the vote check, Seemann said that he will probably have his campaign manager Marilyn Shineflug at the county court house watching the check procedure.

Meanwhile, back at the village hall, the winning trustee candidates, Mabel Lou Weber, Bob Wilton and Seemann or Am-undsen are due to be sworn in at the next regular meeting of the Antioch Village Board on Monday, May 2.

Play with pizzazz at ACHS

Shakespeare with Pizazz!

That's what will happen when Antioch Community High School Drama department opens its spring production, Cole Porter's "Kiss Me Kate," on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 28, 29 and 30 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The show has a large cast that sings and dances its way across the stage.

"Kiss Me Kate" stars Andrew Biel in the double role of Fred Graham and Petruchio and Diane Jurgaitis in the roles of Lilli Vanessi and Kate. The show has been rated by critics as the best musical Cole Porter ever wrote and is based on the play "The Taming of the Shrew" by William Shakespeare. That makes a combination which would be awfully hard to top.

Tickets can be obtained from cast members at the door. The prices are adults, $3 and students and senior citizens, $1.50.

— According to Lt. Tom Fisher of the Antioch Police Dept., the police arrested two 12-year-old juveniles on Wednesday, April 20, for an Oakwood Knolls residential burglary, committed on Monday, April 18.

The youths allegedly broke into the home sometime during the daylight hours and entered by breaking a window in the back door, reaching in and unlocking the door.

The youths reportedly took a jar full of money and other coins laying at random in the home.

Both the juveniles, who have previous records, have been released in the custody of their families and juvenile petitions charging them with burglary have been filed with the Lake County juvenile authorities.

Set April 30 hearing on new chain — Fox Agency

The Chain of Lakes/Fox River Commission will conduct a public hearing to discuss a proposal to create a Chain of Lakes-Fox River Waterway Management Agency.

The hearing will be held at 10 a.m. on Saturday, April 30 at the Fox Lake Village Hall.

While there appears to be a great deal of support for creation of a waterway management agency, there are still many questions and possible reservations that need to be answered and discussed concerning the creation of any new unit of government," said State Sen. Jack Schaffer (R-Cary), chairman of the commission.

"The new proposal we have developed, which is a rather complete rewrite of the earlier bill," he continued, "requires the agency to be created by referendum, places a ceiling on boat fees which could be levied, and clearly states that the agency in no way relieves the state or federal government of their responsibilities for maintaining or improving the waterway and provides an automatic repealer after ten years."

Schaffer encourages all interested persons to attend the hearing and participate in the discussions. Copies of the new proposal, which was introduced in the Senate (SB 1199) and in the House (HB 1778) are available by writing or calling his district office at 56 N. Williams, Crystal Lake, Ill. 60014, (815) 455-0309.

Schaffer added, "The input we receive at the April 30 hearing will, in a very large way, determine whether or not these bills will go forward and whether they should be further amended to reflect additional ideas, concerns or suggestions of area residents. It is my sincere hope that everyone who cares about the Chain of Lakes-Fox River will make an attempt to attend."

Haley court call set May 6

The latest calendar call date set in the West Palm Beach County versus William Haley, 41, Antioch, saga, is for 9:30 a.m., on Friday, May 6.

On that date, if both the defense and the prosecution are set to go to trial, a trial date is expected to be set concerning the county's charges of marijuana trafficking against Haley.

James Amoroso, McHenry, is scheduled for a calendar call on the same charges, at the same time, date and place.

Both Lake County men were charged after they were implicated by two men arrested by drug authorities during the confiscation of the plane they landed at the West Palm Beach Airport.

The confiscation of the plane, owned by William Zeigler, Round Lake, and its cargo of $476,000 worth of marijuana, took place in April 1981.

The case has been continued several times and at the May calendar call, the third prosecutor assigned to the case, Assistant States' Atty. Michael Morgan will represent the prosecution.

The defense had the case continued the last time, practically on the second anniversary of its inception early in 1983, when the judge allowed a continuing motion giving additional time for the defense to get depositions from parties in Chicago.

The latest judge set to hear the case is Judge Richard Burk.

TEENAGE CAVITIES

Q: Is it true that teenagers' teeth are more susceptible to cavities?

A: Yes, this is a fact. Scientifically speaking, their teeth are most susceptible to decay during the 3 or 4 years after the second set of teeth comes through the gums. It is during this time span that they gradually build up resistance to decay because they are absorbing fluorides and other protective substances from their saliva. Teenage predisposition to junk food and sweets heightens the likelihood of their developing cavities, since oral bacteria thrive on such foods. Because teenagers are always in a hurry, their mouth care is invariably a rush job, so inadequate brushing and flossing add to the cavity problem. Periodic dental checkups and guidance in good diet and dental hygiene can help teens make it through those vulnerable years for their teeth.

The Time Machine

When I think about it

Live people, not live tv is what life's all about

by GLORIA DAVIS

Would you allow anyone to come into your home and spend hours a day, everyday, talking to your children about, and showing them graphic pictures depicting thousands of violent and gory incidents?

Of course not. But if your kids are the norm and you let them watch the television shows of their choice, by the time they graduate from high school, they will have spent 10 years, at 40 hours per week, watching television; witnessing 25,000 people die and eyeballing 150,000 violent episodes.

Many of these tv episodes will depict up to 25 brutal acts inside of one single hour.

These facts come from a study done by the National Inst. of Mental Health, reported in January's issue of Reader's Digest.

Of course none of this is new news. PTA groups and the National Coalition on Television Violence, formed by psychiatrists, pediatricians and educators, have been monitoring the tv screen for years and objecting loudly to the continuous invasion of the home by the graphic reproduction of eruptive, fierce, demonic and savage incidents.

Yet look at the popularity of some of this tv season's newcomers. "The A-Team" blows up at least two or three places and several people each episode, using machine guns, bazookas and magnum revolvers as often as you might reach for a pen or a pencil during the day. But these are the good guys, so it's alright!

Then we have Remington Steele and Simon and Simon and Tucker's Witch on which death, blood, and being punched around or hit in the head with the butt of a gun are all in a day's work. Somehow the cold tv screen is completely unable to transport the real feeling of pain involved in all these happenings.

Much money has been spent in research that lists thousands of cases of violent crimes which the perpetrator admitted to committing following the viewing of a similar one on television.

Now granted, maybe these people are sick and would have committed a violent crime anyway, but do the tv producers have to show them the way?

There is definite proof that a large majority of young adults who are products of the first generations of tv children are slower to react when faced with life threatening incidents.

Psychiatrists claim that this is because the shock value is gone and it takes time (some never do) to distinguish between a real happening that has been witnessed hundreds of times on television. Then you just reached for the popcorn and continued to stare at it in a trance.

Heavens knows it's easier to let the television set be a babysitter, but are you willing to let three major networks form your children's characters?

Monitor the tv shows that your children watch and if you think that they should be exposed to certain shows that depict violence, watch the shows with them and discuss with them the pros and cons and the real ramifications of such violence.

And don't restrict this to prime-time viewing. According to the article in Reader's Digest, University of Kansas and Yale University Researchers have decided that those Saturday morning cartoons are the most violent of all. They are reported to decrease a youngster's sense of imaginative play, make him more aggressive and much more liable to kick and hit to get what he wants.

The commercials on these shows have three times the violence that the programs themselves do.

And don't think that tv turmoil tension is relegated to kids alone. Our prisons are full of adults who committed crimes that related to tv shows they saw. And psychiatrists have also found that average males and females are often known to subconsciously act violently and more unpleasingly aggressive after exposure to such programing.

What do we do about it. The first and simplest thing is to use the nobs the way they were meant to be used by the manufacturers. Turn the channel or flip to off.

Secondly, the old "pen is mightier than the sword" epithet still applies. Letters to the tv networks are taken into strong consideration when they do their programing. If people aren't going to watch certain shows, the ratings will plummet and off they'll go.

Next, do not patronize advertisers that sponsor such programs. They will soon drop such sponsorship if their product doesn't sell.

Patronize such sponsors as Kraft Foods, Hallmark Cards and Campbells Soup. All have policies against sponsoring excessively violent shows.

But most of all, cut the tv viewing time of the whole family to a maximum of three to four hours a day. Turn off the tube and tune into people. That's what life's all about!

Robert Lindblad was the newly elected president of the Antioch High School Board.

Jackie Vns and Marilyn Slater were busy with the Antioch Jaycettes' project of making Easter baskets for needy area children.

Johnny Smith and Judy Houghton were among 11 swimmers on the Antioch Swimming Team that broke records in a big Waukegan swim meet.

Joan and George Vistain and Forrest and Nancy Stahmer celebrated their 25th anniversaries.

ACHS Samson tops in Spanish exam

Rick Samson, a fourth year Spanish student at Antioch Community High School, placed in the top 10 percent of all outstanding students from Chicago area schools who participated in a nationwide exam sponsored by the American Assn. of Teachers of Spanish and Portugese.

Six other Antioch students who also took the test for either advanced or third level, students also placed well within the top third of all participants.

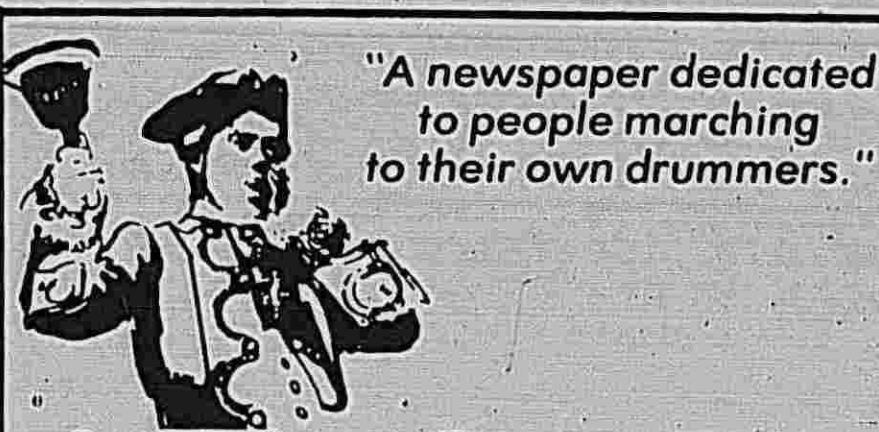

Christine Firster, who placed in the top fourth, and John McCarthy, who ranked in the top third, took the advanced level test.

Sherri Coppersmith and Suzanné Keane placed in the top third of the third level, and Marie Mathis and Robert Jenewein ranked in the top fourth in their level.

These students are also members of the National Honor Society of ACHS, which means they maintain an A average for each semester they have studied Spanish in high school.

These students are also eligible to participate in the national exam because their teacher, Carol Maplethorpe, is a member of the American Assn. of Teachers of Spanish and Portugese.

Prizes, fun galore at Lakeland Home Show

Show time is here. The band's playing, people are filing in, passing by the many colorful and informative booths. And one lucky visitor will take home with them the grand prize of a microwave oven.

You know it has to be time for Lakeland Newspapers' Home Show '83, Thursday, April 28 at the Lake County Fairgrounds, Rtes. 45 and 120, Grayslake.

The microwave, to be given by JC Penney at Lakehurst and Lakeland Newspapers, is one of many free prizes to be given away to those who attend the annual free Home Show. You must be present to win prizes, but there is no admission charge and no purchases are necessary.

Doors open at 3:30 p.m. with the popular cooking demonstration beginning at 7 p.m. An entire afternoon and evening of activities are being planned for the show which is sponsored by Lakeland Newspapers in cooperation with participating area merchants.

This year's cooking show portion of the exciting home show will feature nationally known home economist Donna Saeger who will demonstrate the latest in cooking techniques on stage at the fairgrounds' cafeteria building.

A complete kitchen, with appliances provided by Sears in Fox Lake, which provides the largest selection of home appliances in the Lakeland area, will be set up on the home show stage. Sears is conveniently located in the Lakeland Plaza shopping center.

A special mirror arrangement makes the home economist's countertop demonstrations easily visible by the audience.

Visitors to this year's home show will also be entertained prior to the cooking demonstration by the popular quartet Streetwise, provided by the Al Schultz Agency in Waukegan.

Streetwise plays a variety of music for all occasions and is certain to be popular with home show visitors.

Also among the features this year will be a colorful display of fashion favorites.

The fashion segment of the home show will be held during the intermission of the popular cooking demonstration and will feature fashion coordinators from Factory Fashion Center of Lindenhurst.

Factory Fashion Center features women's apparel direct from the factory at savings of 40 to 60 percent with new shipments each week. Fashion commentary will be by Lakeland Newspapers' Fashion Editor Gloria Davis.

Once again this year, visitors to the home show will be tempted by the aromas from the Village Ranch Restaurant's booth which will be happy to ease the hunger of home show visitors at moderate prices.

Steve Klauke, host of WKZN radio's morning show, will act as emcee for the evening's activities.

Once again this year, younger home show visitors will be greeted by the popular Kup Kake and the Klown Klan, official goodwill ambassadors of Lakeland Newspapers.

Visitors to the home show will visit many exciting exhibits associated with homes, entertainment, health and beauty care, recreation and lifestyles.

Admission to the show is free and seating is on a first come basis.

Scores of prizes will be given away during the show and everyone attending will receive a free cook book.

Participating merchants from across Lake, McHenry and Kenosha counties will be on hand for the annual home show which has become one of the highlights of the spring season in Lake County.

Participating merchants this year include Taylor Rental, Grayslake; Factory Fashion Center, Lindenhurst; The Village Ranch Restaurant; Lindenhurst Businessmen's Assn.; Dutch Gardens; Ozite Carpet Mill Outlet; Lake Villa-Lakewood Medical Center; Tru Value Hardware; North Chicago Chamber of Commerce; and Soto's Photos.

Also, JC Penney at Lakehurst; University of Chicago Medical School Clinics; Round Lake Area Chamber of Commerce; Creative Pool and Spas;

Lakeland Newspapers; Fabian Chimney Sweeps; Waukegan-Lake County State Rep. Bob Churchill; Chamber of Commerce; Fox Lake Chamber of Commerce; Scotty's Energy Systems; L. merce; Ingrid at Home; Bel

Photography; Pat Zubor; and McHenry Chamber of Commerce.

Once again, there is no admission charge and seating is on a first come, first served basis. See you at the home show.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

I was so glad to hear that U. S. Marine Lance Cpl. Robert Scott Petersen, who had been stationed in Beirut, Lebanon, was not involved with the terrible bombing of the American Embassy in that country.

His father, Bob Petersen, told me that he would have been frantic when he read those headlines if his son had still been stationed there.

"He was home a few weeks ago and is now in North Carolina and will be out of the Marines in September," said Bob.

"The University of Lebanon Bldg., where he was billeted, was right behind the embassy building," the relieved father reported.

Big congratulations to Katherine Zoller, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Zoller, who has just been awarded the Irl Marshall Scholarship by the College of Lake County.

Katherine plans a career in creative writing after college graduation.

Wasn't that sunshine and spring-like weather we had last week great!

And if you seem to be just a little behind the last few days, hope you remembered to turn your clocks forward over the week-end!

The many regular customers of Maggie and Harry's (Thompson's Bar and Grill) will sorely miss that popular Main St. eating spot.

Last Saturday, April 23, the doors closed for the final time in that Main St. location.

But the planned opening of the big new restaurant in the old Western Tire Store at Rte. 59 and 173 soon will be a great added eating attraction to the area.

A little note from our favorite local poet.

NEVER TOO YOUNG... OR TOO OLD
by PAT CHAPMAN

Do you find the years go quickly by?
Do you feel you are lonely as they fly?
Well throw away your cares and pills,
Choose a hobby... find new skills.
A world of fun is there in store,
Don't sit around being a bore.
If you are all alone, you will find
A hobby gives one a creative mind.
You older... stop being so obsolete,
Come on Grammy & Gramps, let's compete!
You will gain recognition & self-esteem
And stop being fearful as you sit and dream.
For those who started long ago...
I need not tell them... they truly know!

Diamondmen take 3 of 4

After winning three out of four of last week's games, the Antioch High School varsity baseball team has a 5-1 overall record and a 3-1 Northwest Suburban Conference (NWSC) stance.

On Monday, April 18, the Sequoits took on Warren at home and won the game, 2-1, with Vince Gawrecki pitching a superb game.

Gawrecki had nine strikeouts, gave up no walks, giving up only five hits and one run.

Antioch's first run came in the second inning when, after one out, Jerry Haling took a walk and Frank Mahar hit a double, bringing Haling home.

The Sequoits' other run came in the fifth, when Derek Olsen grounded to the shortstop and took a base on an error. Then the second man up, John Humphreys, got on base on another error and after a double steal, a sacrifice play by John Silanoff brought Olsen in to score.

"This was a great offensive game," said Sequoit Coach Tom Baba, "we hit the ball everytime and did not strike out."

According to Baba, the game at Wauconda on Wednesday, April 20, "was enough to frustrate an old man."

Baba was referring to the fact that the Sequoits had the bases loaded in all three of the first three innings and couldn't score.

Lester Zitkus kept the mound until the fifth inning when he gave up three walks and then the two timely hits by Wauconda wrapped up the game for the Bulldogs.

The Sequoits finished their baseball week with two non-conference games at Waukegan East.

Antioch took the first game, 10-2, with John Humphreys the winning pitcher. The Sequoits had five runs in the first inning and four in the second.

Zitkus had the heavy bat in this one, hitting in three runs and Haling slammed in two.

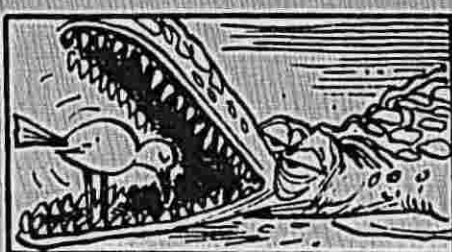

Antioch took the second game, 4-1, with Tom Adams the winning moundman, giving up one run, five hits, striking out five men and serving up one walk.

Zitkus' single in the fourth inning brought Olsen, who had walked, in, and a double in the fifth saw Silanoff score after a two base error.

"The wind killed many of Waukegan's good hits in the air," said Baba.

The Sequoits face Lake Zurich on Monday, April 25, at Lake Zurich. Then they play Grant at home on Wednesday, April 27, and go against Wilmet at home in a non-conference game on Friday, April 29.

Fine teen arsonists $50

The Antioch Grade School Board of Education approved the district's joining the Lake County Computer Consortium at the regular meeting of Tuesday, April 19.

It will cost the district $1,750 to join and 25 cents per pupil. The co-op will aid the consortium members with computer services, will employ personell and give program assistance.

Supt. Donald Skidmore informed the board that the two teenagers that caused $3,000 in damages when they set fire to the field house were fined the "outrageous sum of $50 for their heinous act."

The teens have also been ordered to perform 100 hours of public service somewhere.

Skidmore said that the insurance company that paid the damages had the option of suing the families of the youths to recoup damage costs.

The board also heard that 21 SEDOL children had qualified for the same summer school program model that ran in 1982 and it approved the offer for these children to attend summer school.

According to Skidmore, usually 65 percent of those qualifying attend school.

In other business, the board gave approval to the district on legally seeking bids for milk, gasoline and canned goods to be used during the 1983-84 school year.

In turning down the Lindenhurst Park Dist.'s request for a building and alarm key for the Oakland Building in case of an emergency during a soccer game, Skidmore said that the district could not get in the habit of loaning out public school keys no matter how worthy the function.

He suggested that a CB radio be available in case of an emergency.
